NEW NON-INVASIVE FACIAL TREATMENT TO ENHANCE THAT BRIDAL GLOW

Advice, Bachelorette Parties, Health & Beauty

We all know brides are as busy as can be leading up to their big day, ensuring every detail is meticulously met. Among all the planning and stress, the brides wish to look at their very beautiful best. Southern Bride is happy to share the new non-invasive facial treatment bound to enhance that bridal glow on their special day and rejuvenate the skin from the inside out. Unlike most surface facials, Geneo Facial works its magic by delivering oxygen and vital nutrients to the skin, further increasing the oxygen levels within the body. With the stress of wedding planning, extra oxygen is always a good idea. The three-part process of exfoliation, rejuvenation and oxygenation is also available on the body, perfect for a bridal pamper party. For best wedding day results, it is recommended to attend a few treatments once a month prior to the big day. This will leave the skin glowing and clean while allowing for a smoother bridal make-up application. We had the pleasure of experiencing the treatment and its immediate results at Sneed Medispa in Memphis. There are numerous providers across the country – be sure to check out their website geneo-us.com/find-a-provider for this special treatment in your area while checking off one to-do thing on your list.
